About FloraClay, Singapore

How It All Started

“I have always been intrigued with things beautiful; flowers happen to be one of it.

Chancing upon a website one day and fascinated by the realistic beauty and exquisiteness of her handcrafted clay flowers, it was a gold opportune moment when I decided to set far out to an island beautifully lined with beaches of warm, white sand and verdant lush flora to acquire craftsmanship skills under the tutelage of her greatest instructors.

The year was 2007 and and it has been an exceptional journey of floral clay-art for me since.” -Nora, Founding Owner of FloraClay, Singapore

Our Humble Beginning

Starting out from the corner of Nora’s home, FloraClay, Singapore was established in January 2006 with the intention of creating unique, handcrafted clay flower masterpieces for retail to the local Singapore market.

Outstandingly durable than fresh flowers and more life-like than paper and fabric alternatives, creations in the initial years were handcrafted none otherby Nora singly.

Recognising that a demand existed for both clay flower retail and education, FloraClay then began instructing the art to those keen to embark on a journey of floral clay-crafting on a personal, business or recreational level.

Today, FloraClay’s creations are handcrafted by Nora and her highly-skilled team of experts and have, through the years, gained their own dedicated followings; for weddings, for life’s special occasions and among those open to innovative yet creative alternative gift ideas.

Have Fun Creating Peonies With Clay

Activity Instruction

1. Mix and knead white clay with a portion of coloured clay to create the flower colour of your preference.

2. Apportion kneaded clays into 30 balls.

3. Change each ball into a teardrop. Slide the edge thinly from left to right, lift off from palm and twirl the edges, beginning from the centre outwards. Then cup each petal. Do the same for all petals.

4. Arrange 5 petals in a fan, on top of each other, overlapping a little and then bring petals to a turn, meeting in the middle.

Slot in another petal and close off the first layer of petal arrangement.

5. Start the second layer with a petal placed in between 2 petals of the first layer. Continue assembling the rest of petals, ensuring that each petal covers a bit of the previous petal.

6. Take off all excess clay from the bottom and set it to dry in a tissue ring support.
